

Rehabilitation Therapy

Brainworks' Rehabilitation Therapists provide one-to-one therapeutic intervention and support to clients of all ages with varying levels of ability and disability. Intervention occurs wherever it is required: In the home, schools, work site, hospital, rest home, and any other locations as appropriate.

Working under the direction of various regulated and non-regulated healthcare professionals, Rehabilitation Therapists facilitate independence while assisting their clients to reach their therapeutic goals in a cost-effective, evidence-based manner.

Brainworks therapists are trained and experienced in the art of functional rehabilitation. They are trained to integrate the treatment protocols authored by the various members of the treatment team into relevant, meaningful projects within the context of the client's own home and community.

They record and communicate objective information so the professionals directing the file can make sound recommendations based on reliable data. Reports are issued in a timely manner, detailing the goals being addressed, accounting for therapy time, and outlining the intervention methods being utilized.

Because social and behavioural issues can significantly impact on rehabilitation outcome, Brainworks Therapists are alert for these issues and they are prepared to implement least intrusive behavioural interventions. As a part of our regular service, Brainworks therapists have access to in-house general consultation on behavioural issues at no additional charge to the funding source.
